CORPORATE BROCHURE · 2026

An AI-native studio building software for India and the world.

Aadyash Technologies Private Limited
Tamil Nadu, India · aadyashtech.in

Two co-founders. One studio worth building.

Aadyash Technologies was founded in 2026 by Gopi Vairavanathan and Purnima Chandrasekar — a husband-wife team who decided that the best way to ship software that matters in India was to start a studio for it.

Most software available to Indian schools and Indian households is a localised version of something designed for somewhere else. The Tamil parent who can't read English. The government school principal who keeps attendance in a paper register. The household helper who's invisible to every tracking system. They get whatever's left over.

We started Aadyash to flip that. We pick problems where Indian context matters most and build the software those problems deserve.

What we believe

Quiet confidence over loud claims. We don't say "world-class" or "industry-leading." We point at things we've actually shipped.

India deserves better. The Tamil parent app, the state directorate dashboard, the helper marketplace loyalty maths — they exist because we wouldn't build a worse version.

AI as a teammate, not a feature. Every product is conceived, designed and built with frontier AI as a third co-builder. That's how a two-person studio ships like a thirty-person one.

Three live products. All Indian-first.

EDUCATION ·
PRIVATE K-12

ClassRoots

classroots.ai

A complete school OS for India's private K-12 schools. Parent app, staff app, principal portal. Tamil/Hindi/English. Strong roots. Strong schools.

Status: Live · in private schools

EDUCATION · GOVERNMENT

PaadhashalaiConnect

Same platform, white-labelled for state governments. Tamil-first. State Command Center for Directorate officials. Pilot proposal under TN government review.

Status: Pilot proposal under TN govt review

MARKETPLACE · HOUSEHOLDS

Thenee

thenee.app

A helper marketplace for Indian households. BeePoints loyalty pays both sides more for staying on-platform than they'd save by going around it.

Status: In development · launch H2 2026

What makes them different

All three products are built around the same principle: Indian context as a feature, not an afterthought. ClassRoots and PaadhashalaiConnect because Indian schools and parents deserve tools designed for them — not localised imports. Thenee because Indian household economics need loyalty maths that actually work for the helpers, not just the platform.

AI is our third teammate.

Aadyash was founded as an AI-native studio. That's not positioning — it's how the work actually gets done. A two-person studio shipping two products simultaneously is only possible because of how we use AI at every step.

01

Brainstorm before code

Every feature starts as a structured back-and-forth with AI. We don't write code until we have a written spec that survives critique. That alone removes 70% of the rework most teams suffer.

02

Iterate in hours, not weeks

Mockups go from idea to clickable in an afternoon. We test ten approaches, throw away nine, ship the tenth. The speed compounds and the quality compounds with it.

03

Build with confidence

AI-assisted code reviews, test generation, refactoring. Our codebase stays honest as it grows because we have a tireless teammate watching it for regressions, dead code, and inconsistencies.

04

Ship without ceremony

No corporate process. No design committees. The team that designs is the team that builds is the team that ships. Decisions take minutes, not meetings.
